

us were furnished by the regular ship news reporter, and published in the same language by the journals that now accuse us. Another paragraph to which our kind friends take exception, came from the City Inspector's Department, which, we take it, is tolerably good authority for anything relating to public health. We are certainly very much obliged to our neighbors for their zeal in sifting these reports, since the result has been that each one of them fully establishes the truth of everything we have printed.

THE LATEST NEWS. RECEIVED BY MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 15, 1857.

Walker and his party left for New York this afternoon. The call upon Mr. Buchanan was very private, and nothing was said committing the President to the filibustering schemes. The junketing here had no political significance.

The President is at work on the diplomatic appointments. A portion of the list will be completed by July 1.

To the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 15, 1857.

Judge Crawford charged the Grand Jury to-day that their duty was to make a full inquiry into the true condition of the election riots. They should ascertain the facts, and present them in an embodied form. Nothing short of this ought to satisfy the community. "The laws," he said, "must be maintained and enforced, and the rights of citizens under those laws, and the fair and full exercise of them without interference or hindrance from any quarter, must be protected by whomsoever the law authorizes means are necessary for these purposes."

William C. Barney of New-York has proposed to the Postmaster-General the transportation of the mails once a month each way between New-Orleans, Haïti, Cayenne, and St. Louis, and Bordeaux in France, in a steamship of the first class, and received the promise of a temporary arrangement for the service, beginning in July; the compensation to be regulated by existing laws.

Gen. Walker left this afternoon for Philadelphia, and will arrive in New-York at 11 o'clock a. m. to-morrow.

Philip Frank Thomas, to whom the Governorship of Utah has been offered, has arrived in this city.

The following are the names of the Midshipmen who have just passed their examination at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and been warranted as "Past Midshipmen": F. B. Blake, J. W. Alexander, H. D. Todd, C. J. Graves, J. M. Pritchett, E. Torry, B. Wilson, T. M. Wells, M. Hance, J. W. Kelly, H. B. Seely, F. V. McNeil, A. R. Yates, J. W. Miller, C. McArthur.

The New-Orleans mail of Tuesday last week is to hand. The letters received give most flattering accounts from the planting regions of Eastern, Northern and Middle Texas. The prospects of splendid crops of corn, cotton and sugar were never better. In the West part of the crops were not suffering.

Letters from the River Counties of Virginia and Maryland state that the army would have made its appearance and was ravaging all kinds of grain. The farmers of some sections were despairing of getting seed for seed.

GREAT DEFICIT IN THE OHIO STATE TREASURY.

COLUMBUS, Saturday, June 13, 1857.

N. H. Gibson, State Treasurer, resigned his office to-day, and the Governor appointed A. P. Stone of this city to fill the vacancy. A deficit of $550,000 has been discovered in the Treasury, which Gibson says existed when he came into office, caused by the defalcation of John G. Breslin, the former Treasurer. The Governor has appointed a Committee of Investigation. Notwithstanding this deficit, the July interest will be paid.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN SYRACUSE.

SYRACUSE, Monday, June 15, 1857.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning, a fire broke out in the new brick works adjoining the Washington Block, on South Salina street, which proved very disastrous in its effects. The fire originated in the grocery and provision store of Judah Pierce, and the flames spread with alarming rapidity. The sufferers, as far as we can ascertain, are as follows: The stock of groceries belonging to Mr. Pierce was valued at $15,000, and insured for $10,000. The store and the one immediately adjoining it were the property of H. A. Dilaye, and his loss is estimated at $16,000, insured for $5,000.

The loss on Mr. Gates's stock of confectionery is about $500, and is fully insured; the building he occupied was valued at $5,000, and was insured for that amount. It belonged to Samuel Mead. The next store was a cabinet and furniture store; it was insured for $3,000, and the stock for $1,000, and these amounts will cover the loss. The two next stores were owned by Harvey Sheldon and Israel S. Spencer; they were not finished or occupied, and were insured for the full amount of the damage. The total loss is estimated at $50,000.

NON-ARRIVAL OF THE EUROPA.

HALIFAX, Monday, June 15—11 p. m.

To this hour there are no signs of the Cunard steamship Europa, now in her tenth day from Liverpool. The weather is calm and the sky overcast.

THE ELECTION IN MINNESOTA TERRITORY.

CHICAGO, Saturday, June 13, 1857.

The latest Minnesota dates represent the election of a majority of Democratic delegates, as far as heard from, to the Convention for the formation of a Constitution.

THE BIDS FOR CARRYING THE UNITED STATES MAIL OVERLAND TO THE PACIFIC.

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 15, 1857.

The following are the bids for carrying the overland mail:

S. Howell and A. E. Pace, from Gaines's Landing, on the Mississippi, to San Francisco, to commence at Vicksburg if preferred, weekly: $1,000,000 for the first year, $800,000 for the second, $700,000 for the third, and $600,000 for the fourth year.

James E. Birch, from Memphis to San Francisco: semi-weekly, $600,000.

James Glover, from Memphis or Vicksburg: semi-monthly, $300,000; weekly, $450,000; semi-weekly, $300,000.

John Butterfield, William B. Dinmore, William G. Fargo, James V. P. Gardner, Marcus L. Kinyon, Hamilton Spence and Alexander Holland, from St. Louis: weekly, $150,000; semi-weekly, $200,000.

David D. Mitchell, Samuel B. Churchill, Robert Campbell, William Gilpin and others: semi-weekly, $200,000.

John Butterfield and William B. Dinmore, William G. Fargo, and others, from Memphis: semi-monthly, $300,000; weekly, $450,000; semi-weekly, $300,000.

John Butterfield and others, from St. Louis: semi-monthly, $300,000; weekly, $450,000; semi-weekly, $300,000.

James Johnston, Jr., and Joseph Clark, from St. Louis: Semi-monthly, $200,000; weekly, $300,000; semi-weekly, $200,000.

Wm. Hollister, the President of the Minnesota, and others, for Pacific Mail Transportation Company, put in a bid, but it was irregular, being after time—proposing to perform the semi-monthly service for $200,000.

John Butterfield and others are willing to stipulate in the contract that the route indicated by them may be modified or changed to the North or South, to avoid any obstacle that may be found by experience to interfere with the safe and regular transmission of the mails.

STATE TEMPERANCE SOCIETY MEETING.

ALBANY, Monday, June 15, 1857.

The State Temperance Society's Semi-Annual Meeting will be held in the Capital to-morrow at 11 o'clock. Prominent speakers from other States will be present, and a meeting of much interest is expected by the friends of Temperance.

Four or five boats have arrived here to-day from New-York.

BUNKER-HILL CELEBRATION.

NEW-YORK, Monday, June 15, 1857.

The programme for the Bunker-Hill celebration on Wednesday has been fully arranged, and promises a grand and interesting demonstration. The military feature will be the particularly prominent, while the civic procession will include many fine Massed Lodges, an imposing array of firemen, and a large turn-out of patriotic bodies of citizens. In Boston and Charlestown, the occasion will be observed as a general holiday. The Custom-House, banks, and nearly all places of business, will be closed.

ARREST OF ALLEGED MAIL ROBBERS.

CHICAGO, Monday, June 15, 1857.

Special Agent Shalleross, arrested, on the 13th inst., A. L. and L. D. Tidball, sons of the Postmaster of Millersburg, in Holmes County, on a charge of robbing the mails.

FROM PHILADELPHIA.

From Our Special Correspondent.

LA PIERRE HOUSE, Monday, June 15, 1857.

I was conversing with a Judge of one of the Courts here, and he stated that never in the history of this country were such sewers of political filth dredged up to secure the election of James Buchanan; and he thought it was saying a great deal to affirm that the campaign-scam of the City of New-York was more fraudulent than that of Philadelphia.

Several of the men most active in the Buchanan canvass here have been committed to prison since for different crimes. The same sort of material which the highest bidder for the purple bought up when Rome was in her decadence, was a favorite article with the Buchanan men here.

The political Democratic club which W. R. Reed, when lately a Republican and Attorney-General, presented in its true proportions as a dining-closet with the Empire Club—that is to say, the Keystone Club—afforded its democratic aid to Mr. Reed when he performed that superlative somerset at the eleventh hour and fifty-ninth minute, and was rewarded with what is considered by some the best office in the gift of the Government—the Commissioner to China.

A dinner is to be given to Mr. Reed by his new political friends before he goes to China. Intellectually, Mr. Reed deserves the best dinner that can be given. Had he been born in Boston, Massachusetts, not to say all New-England, would have made common cause with the city and advanced him to places of superior distinction. Here, however, it is only necessary to be born in Philadelphia, to be neglected.

—no, that word is not strong enough—to be proscribed by the State; and the greater the talent, genius, service and integrity a Philadelphian exhibits, the more hopeless the chance of his ever being elected Governor, Senator, Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court, or to cognate honors. Obedience, however, since the introduction of the school-law of 1836, Boottism had been declining, when it received a fresh fill by the Buchanan canvass, and the defects of those who ought to have remained steadfast to the cause of light and liberty, were exposed, denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas. It is a pity Mr. Dallas cannot be present at the Convention of the 13th inst., and stand forth as the champion of the cause of light and liberty, and denouncing the Kansas inquiry, and taking the lead in the Whig Convention of 1856, in introducing a series of Republican resolutions too strong for the Whig stomachs of some of his coadjutors—indeed, he stood almost alone in his intemperances on the occasion—suddenly wheeled around and went over to the enemy. The Club which he had presented to the Court as a den of thieves became his affiliated supporters, and the speeches and writings of twenty-five years were transmuted into obsolete ideas